

Explainer Video

“Knowledge for Your Future”

How are interest rates affecting Canadian business?

Can employers weather declining labour force participation?

Are wage expectations impacting turnover?

Where is the economy going?

When it comes to answering these and other tough questions, inFact has the knowledge you can trust. With an inFact subscription, you get access to The Conference Board of Canada’s exclusive research, forecasts and benchmark reports—the knowledge you need to take advantage of opportunities today and tomorrow, all in one digital subscription.

We’ve spent the last 70 years as Canada’s leading independent applied research organization. And we’re on a mission to help you and leaders across Canada, make better decisions. Decisions that are based on facts, not agendas.

Our research areas deliver insight into Canada’s toughest problems, so together we can build a stronger future. On the inFact platform, you can search through over 10,000 exclusive reports, filter by topics and find the releases that matter most to you.

As Canada’s largest economic analysis and forecasting unit, we produce over 250 forecasts annually for over 50 unique elements of the Canadian economy. Helping our customers respond to economic challenges now, and plan into the future.

Our HR research is uniquely Canadian and relied on by industry leaders to inform strategy on topics ranging from compensation planning and turnover, to labour relations. inFact also helps your team stay on top of industry insights and trends. The Usage & Metrics dashboard highlights your team’s consumption patterns and what publications are trending within your organization.

When you subscribe to inFact, you’ll have the information you need at your fingertips to answer today’s toughest questions.

Unlock a culture of evidence-based decision making and transform big ideas into big results.